A first grade teacher had twenty-four students in her class. She presented each child in her class the first half of a well known proverb and asked them to come up with the remainder of the proverb. It's hard to believe these were actually done by first graders.

My 3-year-old grandson, Cruise, has always been impressed with Grandpa's mighty machines, which include a tractor, an ATV and a snowmobile. One day his mom said to him, "Let's go to Grandma's to use her sewing machine." He quickly responded, "Can I ride it?"

A man goes to the lawyer: "What is your fee?"

Lawyer says: "1000 dollars for 3 questions."

Man: "Wow - so much! Isn't it a bit expensive?"

Lawyer: "Yes, what is your third question?"

When I look at chocolate, I hear two voices in my head.

The first one says: "You need to eat that chocolate."

The other voice goes: "You heard. Eat the chocolate."

What did the judge ask when he went to the dentist?

"Do you swear to pull the tooth, the whole tooth and nothing but the tooth?"

A recent scientific study showed that out of 2,293,618,367 people, 94% are too lazy to actually read that number.

Why does a milking stool have only three legs?

‘Cause the cow has the udder.

It’s inappropriate to make a “dad joke” if you are not a dad.

It’s a ‘faux pa.’

I have an addiction to cheddar cheese. But it’s only mild.

What’s green, fuzzy, and would hurt if it fell on you out of a tree?
